What you’ll do:

- Work with the Head of Regulatory Affairs on a range of policy issues and business initiatives across ASX’s diverse financial markets business
- Engage with ASX’s regulators to understand their priorities and areas of focus, and to ensure that our responses to regulatory enquiries are well-targeted and high-quality
- Provide in-depth contributions to the development of solutions that address issues identified by policy makers and regulators that are consistent with ASX’s business objectives
- Prepare briefing material and presentation input to support senior management’s engagement with regulators
- Provide secretariat support for the management of key regulator liaison forums to ensure appropriate cross-functional coordination and transparency
- Provide other support to the Head of Regulatory Affairs on engagement strategies for significant business initiatives, including the preparation of written submissions and other communications
- Work closely and collaboratively with internal stakeholders across the business to support day-to-day engagement with regulators as required

What you’ve done:

- Degree-qualified, with a strong academic record and qualifications in a relevant field, such as economics, law, business, PPE or equivalent

- Demonstrated strong research and analytical skills
- Prepared high quality written reports
- Highly proficient in Excel and PowerPoint

And if you've got some of this, even better:

- Demonstrated interest in technology and innovation in financial services
- Work experience in a law firm, accounting firm, consulting firm, public service agency or similar environment emphasising high quality analysis, strong communication and attention to detail
- We are open to graduate candidates with excellent academics, drive, and a demonstrated interest in public policy and financial markets

What you need to enjoy and be good at for this role:

- A keen interest in financial markets: how they work and are regulated
- Strong research and analytical skills, with an ability to critically assess complex policy issues
- Excellent written and oral communication skills
- The personal drive required to quickly get across new information and identify regulatory and policy issues
- An enthusiastic approach to learning about new areas
- A 'team player' attitude and collaborative approach to working with others
